The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be termed the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the lungs, heart, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. It is the cut the longest nerve in the body, and its base is the base of the brain and its termination is the bowels. The pneumogastric nerve, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered, the irritability or exhaustion of the force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organs themselves of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal difficulties concerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee. All druggists, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

EFFECTS OF TARIFF COMPROMISE.

Its Tendency in the Direction of Protection Relieves Much of the Apprehension—Every Day that Shortens the Agitation is a Gain for Business. Continued Exports of Gold—Banks Welcome the Outflow.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

New York, May 12.—In Wall street there are symptoms of the beginning of an improvement of tone in both investment and speculative operations. This change does not yet show itself in any increase of transactions, nor in any material advance of quotations; at present, it rather prefigures than realizes such effects.

Every day that shortens the tedious paralysis attending the prolongation of tariff legislation is so much gain for business, and as the time comes more clearly in sight when the bugbear will disappear, hope revives, and there is more disposition to discount the great revival which that relief will bring.

The country has had such a schooling in waiting that the deferment of hope no longer breeds distrust; on the contrary, men of business are cherishing a strong confidence that, when these temporary obstacles are removed, they will be followed by a very pronounced and thorough revival in all interests. Americans know how to patiently tolerate restraint of enter prise; but when such restraints are removed there is no limit to their energy; and, for that reason, it is safe to calculate upon an unusual activity of business when the present legislative obstacles are removed. Wall street is not likely to overlook this fact, and is already getting ready to discount it in advance.

The concessions to manufacturers in the senate modifications of the tariff bill have produced a marked change in estimates as to the working of that measure. They lift the cloud of apprehension that has rested upon our industries for twelve months and open the way to a quicker and more general resumption of production than has been hoped for; and, provided there be no important retractions of these changes in the later discussions, there is likely to be an important revival of business even before the new duties take effect.

In the circles that initiate the larger movements of capital there is a growing impatience at the postponement of new undertakings. During the long months of idleness, plans have been devised for enterprises that would give employment to the vast amount of now idle capital, and it would require no great further recovery of confidence to start up this class of operations. From what is known or surmised of preparations of this character, it would not be surprising if, within the next twelve months, we witness an unprecedented launching of corporate enterprises. This time has rarely been more promising for floating new undertakings, provided they are framed upon such conservative ideas as experience has taught investors to respect and insist upon. For not only is the accumulation of idle funds unprecedented and the rate of interest abnormally low in the home market, but the same state of things exists throughout Europe. In Europe and here, promoters are hungry after their long starvation, and bankers and great speculators are eager for opportunities to make up for the losses and the dull times under which they have been suffering. These classes are waiting for indications of the arrival of the biting mood among the fish of which they are anglers, and they may be expected to be soon seen throwing out their lines. This at least we judge from present symptoms; and the starting time is likely to date from the passing of the tariff bill, or its near prospect.

The exports of gold continue, without any symptoms of immediate cessation; but have little or no effect upon the stock market, for the reason that the money can be well spared, and that its transfer may stimulate an ultimate European demand for our securities by increasing the ease on the foreign bourses. The banks rather welcome the outflow than otherwise; as it will help to reduce the superabundance of cash at this time and stiffen rates. It is not a welcome incident that the gold should have to be supplied from the treasury with the result of cutting down its coin reserve. The banks, however, scarcely feel it to be their concern that the treasury resource is thus drawn upon. They reason that last year the government had experience enough to open its eyes to the danger of carrying the present large liabilities payable on demand in gold and that, if it is not thought necessary to take steps either to diminish them or to protect them in some surer way, there is all the more necessity why the banks should husband their own resources. This seems to be a wise policy; and it is to be hoped that it may impress the administration and Congress with the gravity of the responsibilities borne by the government in becoming so large an issuer of credit currency. It is very clear, however, that if the treasury is to be expected to satisfy the future requirements of gold for export, it is imperative that some means must be taken to enable it to meet that demand, which has been heretofore mainly supplied by the banks. Congress cannot too soon be earnest attention upon this question.

HENRY CLEWS.

The Wool Trade.

The demand continues quiet, and sales foot up small. Stocks are more or less broken, and this tends to steady values somewhat, as outside of this the market is weak. The supply of fleeces is small but the demand is light, and the moderate sales making are at about the former basis of prices. Territory wools move slowly, but the better staple lots hold steady. Medium grades of pulled wools and combing pulled are in moderate supply, and sell fairly at steady prices. Australian wools are dull and sales are meager. Carpet wools are dull, with but little foreign wools being taken out of bond.

"The flowers that bloom in the spring" are not more vigorous than are those persons who purify their blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The famed Elixir Vine could scarcely impart greater vitality to the countenance than this wonderful medicine.

A Popular Remedy.

The promptness and certainty of its cure have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the most effective remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction."

HE IS AN ANARCHIST;

And So Colonel Galvin "Fired" Him From His Army.

GREENSBORO, Pa., May 13.—To add to the trials of Galvin, his second in command, Lieutenant Colonel Ward, a relative of Trustee Duss, of the Economite Society, who had recently joined the army, had been stirring up strife among the soldiers. This man Ward, after his enlistment, was made the "barker" for the army; otherwise the orator in chief. But it appears that Ward is an anarchist of the sort that yearns for an argument with bombs, bludgeons and the like. At least, that is what he leads his lieutenants to believe him to be, and General Galvin says his soldiers have no use for a soldier of that sort.

The men were threatening to mutiny on account of the dangers to which Ward's mouth is subjecting them, as they believed. A few stood by the sanguinary Ward, and there was division and discontent in camp. Galvin sized the situation up Saturday on the march, and made up his mind to spring a coup, staking his place and power as commander of the battalion on the hazard of a single throw. Mounting a ladder by the roadside, he ordered the army to stop while he had his say.

Then he denounced the anarchistic tendencies of Ward, and told the army it is time to make a choice. Either Ward must walk the plank or the speaker, Galvin himself, would go.

The army declared for Galvin, and with cheerful informality Ward was reduced to the ranks and then fired altogether. Now Ward is flocking by himself like the late Unknown after his unsuccessful revolt against Browne, of the Coxy combination.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

New York, May 12.—Money on call easy at 1 per cent, last loan and closed at 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 2 1/2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady at 87 1/2 @ 88. Silver certificates 6 1/2 per cent. Sales 60,000 shares.

The stock market was dull, even for a Saturday, the only animation displayed being in Chicago gas. Most of the list opened at an advance on yesterday's quotations, the improvement, however, being only a small fraction. The early dealings were quiet in tone, and under the prevailing listlessness, the market was except for sugar, which closed within 1/4 per cent of the lowest point touched, but still 1/4 per cent above yesterday's final sale.

Interest on bonds and notes was 1 1/2 per cent. Government and state bonds dull.
